

Abstract

The present invention relates generally to methods for performing social 5 computation. More specifically, the present invention detects emergent concepts from a plurality of sites by creating an adjacency matrix representing the connectivity among the sites, computing the transpose of the adjacency matrix and computing the nth order eigenvalues of the product of the adjacency matrix and the transpose matrix

10

15

20

25

30

35

09388123-083199